Message from the Editor

Dear Readers,

I have been thoroughly enjoying Jo's Feng Shui stories - part travelogue, part Feng Shui case study and part history lesson. I found this issue's story about Gyeongbokgung really fascinating as it is a lesson to always look deeper beyond what is on the surface. Sometimes all that glitters is not gold, and we need to use our Man Luck - our wisdom to identify that something is not right, and our action - to discover and solve the problem, to change the course of our destiny.

Love,

Eu Geen

Time for Prosperity!

Enhance your Wealth Luck for 2017!

Activating your Heaven Luck for Wealth

As the second half of the year is fast approaching, ordinary citizens like us are still concerned about bread and butter issues with the rising cost of living. Even though Malaysia's cost of living is still relatively low compared to other countries, Malaysians are feeling the pinch of rising costs as they are trying very hard to save some money for a comfortable future.

The act of activating wealth luck will not help you to save money. Activating wealth luck creates more earning opportunities for you. Whether a person can save or not, really depends on the person's discipline. With good Feng Shui support from your home or office, your discipline will help you to maintain your wealth (a.k.a. savings) while creating a comfortable lifestyle for yourself. However, given the increasing costs of living, even the most disciplined saver may not have any extra money to put aside. The other option then is to earn more.

To activate wealth luck, you must work with your Heaven, Earth and Man Luck.

What is Heaven Luck?

Heaven Luck usually refers to your destiny, karma, luck and fortune based on your Bazi chart, which is decided at birth. This Heaven Luck is beyond our control.

However, Feng Shui practitioners know that there is still room to manoeuvre and create good Heaven Luck. Positive deeds always add 'credits' to people's fortunes. Qi and energy, whether in thoughts, forms or action move in a circle so "As you sow, so you shall reap." This is how karma, or the law of cause and effect, works. Karma simply means activity. Karma in itself is neutral. It is up to you to create positive or negative cause and effect.

In Chinese Metaphysics study, TIME is actually Heaven Luck. Sometimes doing the right thing is just not enough. You have to do it at the RIGHT TIME. Some people believe this RIGHT TIMING connects us to “The Universe or a Higher Power.” This is how auspicious date selection and Qi Men Dun Jia came about.

How to activate Heaven Luck for Wealth?

In the Good Dates Planner on page 46, Heaven Luck in the form of selected auspicious dates are already available for you. You can further personalized these auspicious dates to your wealth day to enhance your wealth luck. Every person has a different “RIGHT TIME” to do things related to aspects of their life such as marriage, career, investment and study, but in this case, we focus only on wealth. Below are steps for selecting the “RIGHT TIME” for wealth activities or Feng Shui activation.

Step 1: Find out your Wealth Element

Table 1 shows the Wealth Element based on the Day Master

Table 1: The Wealth Element of the 10 Day Masters.

日主 Day Master	十神 (財星) Ten God for Wealth Element
	正財 Direct Wealth	偏財 Indirect Wealth
甲 Jia Yang Wood	己 Ji Yin Earth	戊 Wu Yang Earth
乙 Yi Yin Wood	戊 Wu Yang Earth	己 Ji Yin Earth
丙 Bing Yang Fire	辛 Xin Yin Metal	庚 Geng Yang Metal
丁 Ding Yin Fire	庚 Geng Yang Metal	辛 Xin Yin Metal
戊 Wu Yang Earth	癸 Gui Yin Water	壬 Ren Yang Water

辛 Xin Yin Metal	甲 Jia Yang Wood	乙 Yi Yin Wood
壬 Ren Yang Water	丁 Ding Yin Fire	丙 Bing Yang Fire
癸 Gui Yin Water	丙 Bing Yang Fire	丁 Ding Yin Fire

Step 2: Your Wealth Element, Good Dates Planner and Monthly Universal Qi Map

In the Good Dates Planner, find your Wealth Element in the selected auspicious dates. This is the best time to activate your wealth luck because your energy is aligned to receive wealth. You can use this date to commence activities related to financial matters too.

Similarly, you can make wishes using the Monthly Universal Qi Map on page 55 on your Wealth Element day.

For example, 8th June 2018 is an auspicious day. The Jia Zi Pillar for that day is Fire Tiger (Bing Yin). It is the Wealth Element for the Water Day Master. Water Day Masters can use this day to activate Wealth Luck or make wishes or commence activities related to financial matters.

Having grasped the RIGHT TIME, now you need to put yourself in the RIGHT PLACE. In Feng Shui study, RIGHT PLACE means tapping into the harmonious earth energy. Learn how to put yourself in the RIGHT PLACE by reading “Activating the Earth Qi for Wealth” on page 9.

Activating Earth Qi For Wealth Luck

What is Earth Luck?

Earth Luck simply means the influences of the earth energy or Earth Qi. Feng Shui practices play an important role when it comes to tapping the Earth Qi. The practice helps people to tap into auspicious Qi and align the positive forces that already exist within nature with their homes and offices. By doing this, one will be capable of “receiving” harmonious energy that enhances one’s fortune. Generally, it makes life better.

From the Feng Shui perspective, there are two types of Qi working in tandem with each other.

The first type of Qi is considered permanent Qi, which affects your home or office. This Earth Qi is affected by the contour of roads, structures, buildings, mountains, rivers and lakes in your surroundings. This Qi will only change if the surroundings go through a change. For example, a new building or a highway will change the quality of the permanent Qi around your house or office.

The second type of Qi is Universal Qi that affects the Earth Qi. This Qi changes annually due to the influences of stars and planets as they rotate in the galaxy. This Universal Qi can temporarily bring out the positive effect of a permanent bad sector in your home. At the same time it can also reduce the positive effects of a positive sector in your home. In Feng Shui study, the Flying Stars and Auxiliary Stars are used to measure the annual changes of this Qi. Hence, each year you will come across different positive and negative sectors inside a property while attending Feng Shui seminars.

From another perspective, Earth Luck also means doing the right thing at the RIGHT PLACE. Imagine a quiet and shy man who is good at analyzing numbers being assigned to the marketing and sales department. He will not be able to fully utilize his skills. Thus, his earning power will be limited. If he is put to work in the marketing research department to analyse marketing data, then his chances for success will be much higher.

How to activate Earth Luck for Wealth?

When it comes to activating the Feng Shui of a property, it is usually the activation of the annual Universal Qi based on the annual Flying Stars and Auxiliary Stars of that year. This Qi gives the fastest results. In 2017, there are a few auspicious sectors that enhance wealth luck:

North Sector

Activating the Flying Star 6 at the North sector is good for employees' wealth luck. This is because this star enhances leadership skills, status, authority and reputation. An employee's main source of income usually comes from their salary. Their salary increases when they are promoted to a higher position. Be prepared to accept more responsibility when you activate the North sector.

Southeast Sector

Flying Star 9 is located in the Southeast sector in 2017. This star carries a Peach Blossom influence. If you work in an area that requires you to interact with a lot of people, such as customer services or sales, then the Southeast sector is good for your wealth luck. The Southeast sector is also beneficial for superstars, public speakers or brand ambassadors who need a lot of publicity to earn more income. For business people who want to attract more new customers or if their products are directed to the mass market, this sector is useful too.

Northwest Sector

Flying Star 2 represents the illness star so it is often viewed as negative. However, this star brings good wealth luck to all types of businesses in general. It is extra beneficial for property developers, property agents and property investors.

By activating either one of the above sectors (Earth Luck) in 2017 on an auspicious day (Heaven Luck) you will activate a positive flow of Qi around you that will enhance your "Man Luck". Then all that is left to do is to activate your Man Luck, that is, to take action.

Working on your Man Luck to improve your Wealth Luck

What is Man Luck?

Man Luck is the luck we create for ourselves. Even if something really negative happens in life... it is up to the person to respond resourcefully to overcome the problem. This is why your fate is not carved in stone. In Chinese Metaphysics study, the practitioners fully believe that every individual has the power to overcome challenges and change something negative into something positive. Man Luck is a person's awareness and how much he recognises his own potential, realises the opportunities that come his way and act to grab these opportunities.

Activating your Man Luck

You build up your Man Luck over your lifetime through the actions, efforts and decisions you make. There many ways you can improve your Man Luck.

When you take up a new course of study, you increase your knowledge and upgrade your skills.

By surrounding yourself with positive and successful friends, you aspire to be a better person. They motivate you to achieve your goals and empower you to make the changes you need to succeed. They cheer you on. You will become more productive too. This will lead to a positive mind-set. You will find that you are happier in general.

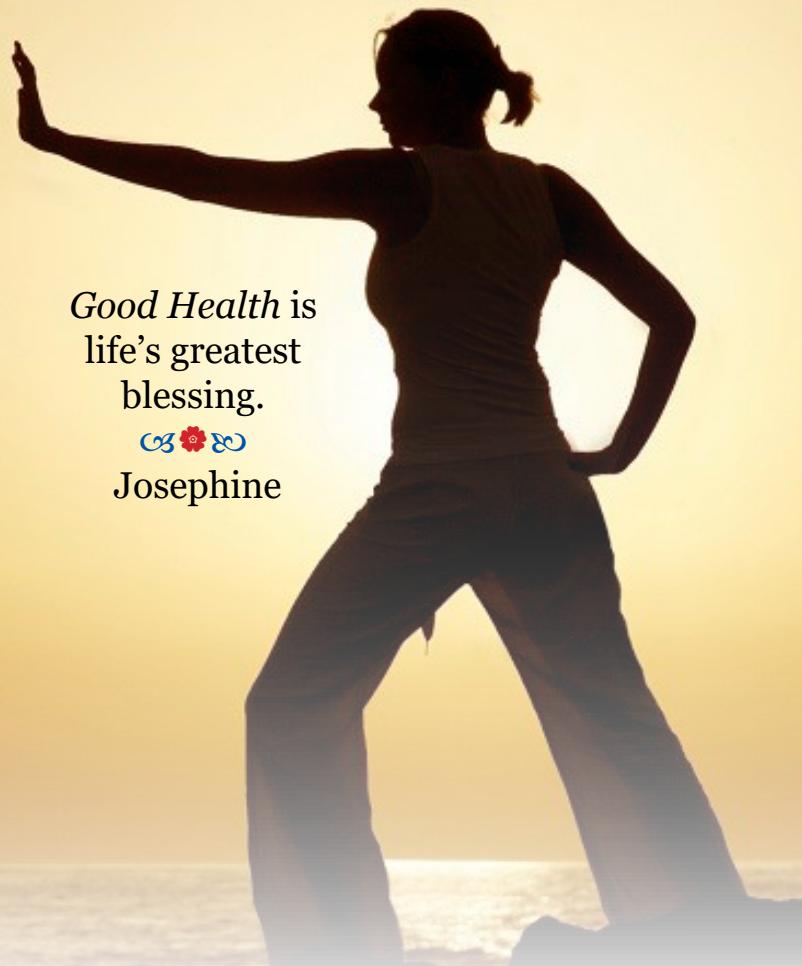

Being charitable and doing positive deeds always add 'credits' to your luck reserve. Research has found that good deeds have a positive chain reaction. Helping others also makes you mentally tougher and physically stronger.

If you can't think of any way to enhance your Man Luck, try regular moderate exercise. It helps to rejuvenate and heal your cells. The cells in your body are actually a form of life force or Qi. When your cells are healthy, you give out good vibes that attract the positive into your life. It is known that if you do Qigong exercises, besides maintaining physical and mental health, the Qi in the area where you practise will also be transformed into more positive Qi.

By taking the time to do a Feng Shui activation, you are enhancing your Man Luck too. Having an extra source of income, makes it easier for wealth to flow to you when you activate Wealth Luck. Feng Shui activation also enhances your Dumb Money Luck. Dumb Money Luck is financial gain that requires little or no effort. Some people relate this luck to gaming or lottery luck. If your Bazi chart does not really have the gaming or lottery luck, your wealth will not come in such a way.

Good Health is life's greatest blessing.

Identifying Land with Good Feng Shui

The quality of Qi permeating the land is an important consideration when you are purchasing a piece land. There are many variables to consider when assessing the Qi of the land and the building on it. Where Feng Shui is concerned, the external environment is the most important. It makes up 70% of the total Feng Shui influence affecting the occupants of the house, whereas the Feng Shui applied inside the house only makes up 30% of the Feng Shui influence affecting the occupants.

Hence, if you intend to purchase a piece of land to build your own property, do employ a Feng Shui consultant to help you select an auspicious piece of land. However, it would cost an arm and a leg to engage a Feng Shui consultant to look at every piece of land that catches your eye, so before you run off to engage a consultant, try to filter out some of the good quality land first.

Follow these two important tips when selecting your ideal plot of land.

First ask yourself, "Does the land look and feel vibrant? Is it lush with vegetation? When you see land that is dry, rocky and lacking in greenery, this is a sign of low levels, or lack of Qi.

The shape of the land is also important. Whether it will be easy to harness Qi or otherwise depends on the shape of land.

The Different Shapes of Land

1. Rectangular and Square-Shaped Land

Feng Shui study emphasises the ‘four gold points’ which translates to four regular corners. Hence, rectangular and square-shaped pieces of land are ideal. The space in the square makes it easier to harness Qi for support and protection. Thus, rectangular and square-shaped pieces of land stand to benefit more from a Feng Shui perspective.

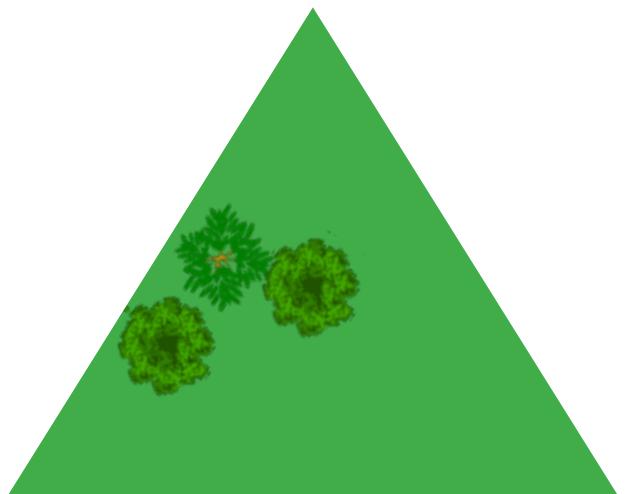

For rectangularly-shaped land, it is preferable for the land to be long rather than wide as shown on the left of Figure 1.

2. Triangular Land

From a Feng Shui perspective, it is very difficult to harness the Qi from a triangular piece of land. Hence, strict selection of this type of land is needed. Feng Shui consultants need to know where the Qi flow is coming from so that the building can be positioned to receive the Qi. The building also needs to be designed in such a way to compensate for the 'disadvantages' of the land. Usually in a triangular plot, occupants will find that they have difficulty sustaining their wealth.

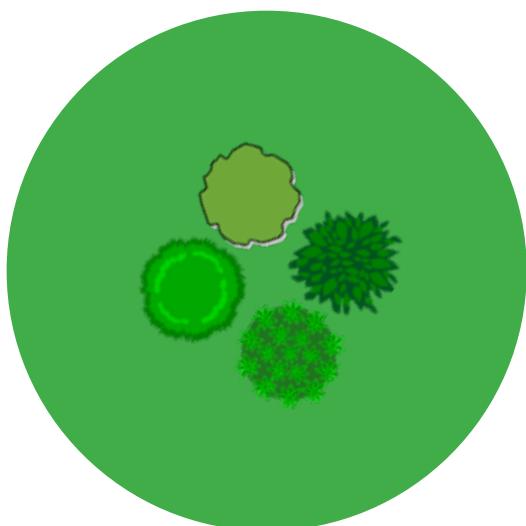

3. Irregular-Shaped Land

Similar to the triangular-shaped land, it is very difficult to harness the Qi from this type of land from a Feng Shui perspective. This plot of land is only ideal when there is space allocated for a bright hall for protection and support. Curved borders are also preferred because it enhances the flow of Qi.

4. Round and Oval-Shaped Land

Round plots have no sharp corners to trap Qi flow. Qi flows smoothly around the border of the land. This is considered auspicious Feng Shui-wise. This type of land tends to gather wealth, but also loses wealth at an even faster pace. Occupants should move once they have gained their fortune. A round piece of land is preferable to an oval piece of land.

Having considered the factors above, there are still rich and famous people living on irregular plots of land who are doing very well. You need a Feng Shui consultant to help you cleverly demarcate the land to harness the Qi using the position and design of the building. If you lack this expertise, the safest is always to go back to basics. Choose the rectangular or square-shaped piece of land.

When does Sha Qi Take Effect?

“Sha Qi” in Feng Shui refers to inauspicious energies generated by naturally occurring landforms and man-made structures. In our March 2017 issue we have described many negative formations that generate Sha Qi.

In this issue, we are going to discuss when the Sha Qi begins to take effect, bringing negative impact to the occupants of a property. Peeping Tom Sha (探头峰) is used as an example throughout this discussion. In many ancient Feng Shui classics, Peeping Tom Sha refers to a mountain that peeps out from behind another mountain in a naturally occurring formation.

Peeping Tom Sha can also occur in an urban environment. When you can see the neighbouring buildings or towers protruding from behind another building and it feels like someone is peeping at you, then it could be that you are being attacked by the Peeping Tom Sha. In an urban city, there are many tall buildings seen behind another building. How much should the building protrude to be considered Peeping Tom Sha? If one third or less of a building juts out from behind another building and can be clearly seen from across the road, this forms Peeping Tom Sha.

The effect of Peeping Tom Sha

In an environment where Peeping Tom Sha exists, it indicates incidents such as robbery, theft, fraud, embezzlement and scandalous romance. In a business scenario, business deals or contracts may be taken away from the company unexpectedly at the last minute. Or it could mean embezzlement by trusted staff.

When will the effects of Peeping Tom Sha be felt?

This is the million-dollar question. Again, this is dependent on how Heaven, Earth and Man Luck come together.

Heaven Luck

TIME represents Heaven Luck. There are two types of Feng Shui systems to measure the TIMING and the effect of the yearly Qi. The Qi that enhances the negative effect of Peeping Tom Sha is Star 7 in the Xuan Kong Fei Xing system. In the San He system, Robbery Sha also activates the bad effect of Peeping Tom Sha.

Illustration I: Peeping Tom Sha at Southwest and Northeast

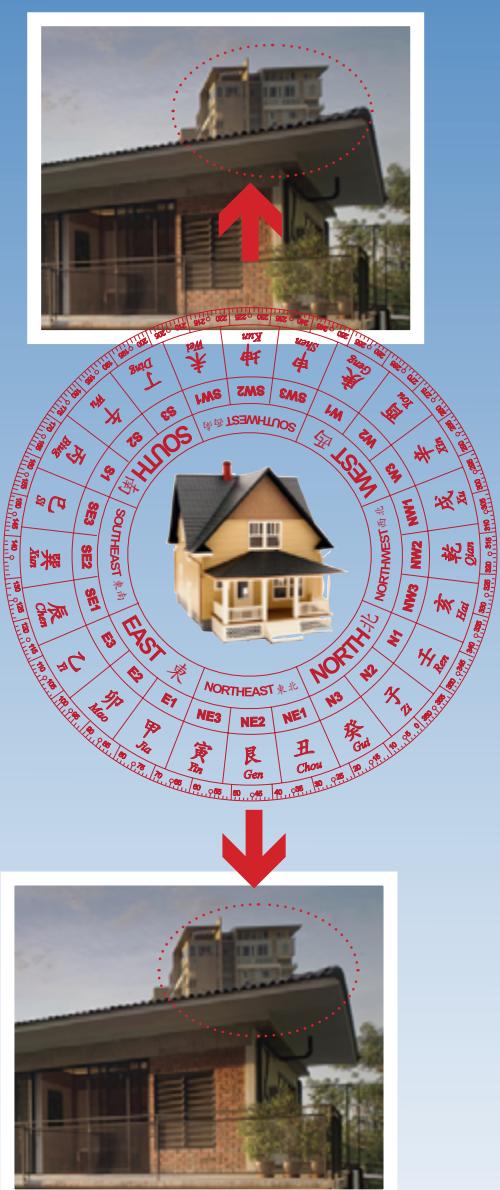

Illustration I shows the Peeping Tom Sha in the Southwest direction. In 2017, Flying Star 7 falls in the Southwest direction. Thus, the negative impact of the Sha Qi will take place in the month when the Flying Star 3 falls into this sector. This happened between 4th April to 4th May in 2017.

Robbery Sha happens to be in the Northeast 3 in 2017. If the Peeping Tom Sha, as shown in Illustration I, happens to be in the Northeast 3 direction when seen from your house, then you will receive the negative impact of this Sha Qi. In 2017, the Tiger zodiac represents Robbery Sha. Hence, the negative impact may take place in a Tiger month which fell on 3rd February to 4th March in 2017.

Earth Luck

The Peeping Tom Sha in the environment represents negative Earth Luck.

Man Luck

Your action is your Man Luck. By placing yourself in an environment impacted by Sha Qi, you have made yourself vulnerable to the negative impact of this Sha Qi.

Who will be affected?

Here comes the second million dollar question, “Who is more vulnerable to this negative impact?”

In the San He system, those who are born in the year of the Tiger are more vulnerable to robbery, theft and loss of belongings in 2017. The Southwest direction is represented by the Kun Gua in the Eight Trigrams (Ba Gua). Kun Gua represents a woman, particularly a mother or elderly lady. They will be vulnerable to the impact of the Peeping Tom Sha.

Can I mitigate this Sha Qi?

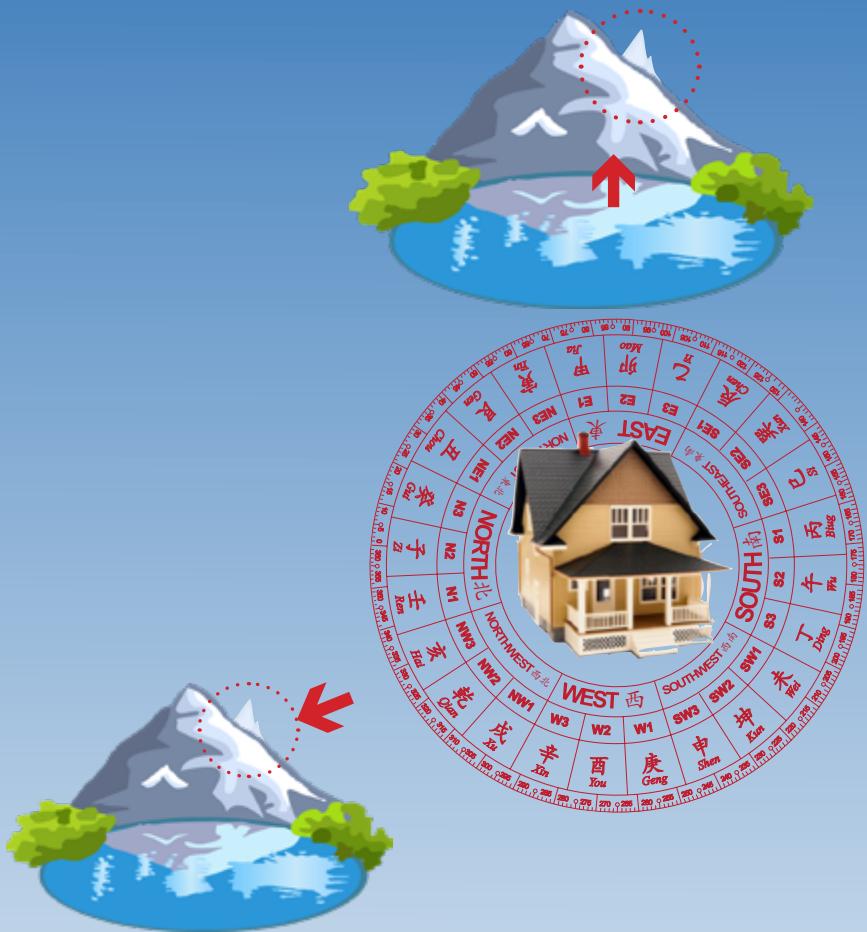

This is the third million-dollar question. Yes, you can. You have to creatively manoeuvre the Earth Luck and Man Luck.

Peeping Tom Sha in 2018

When will it take effect?

In 2018, Flying Star 7 falls in the East direction. Illustration II below shows the Peeping Tom Sha in the East direction. In the month when the Flying Star 3 falls into this sector, the negative impact of this Sha Qi will take place. This will happen between 4th February to 4th March in 2018.

Illustration II: Peeping Tom Sha at East and Northwest

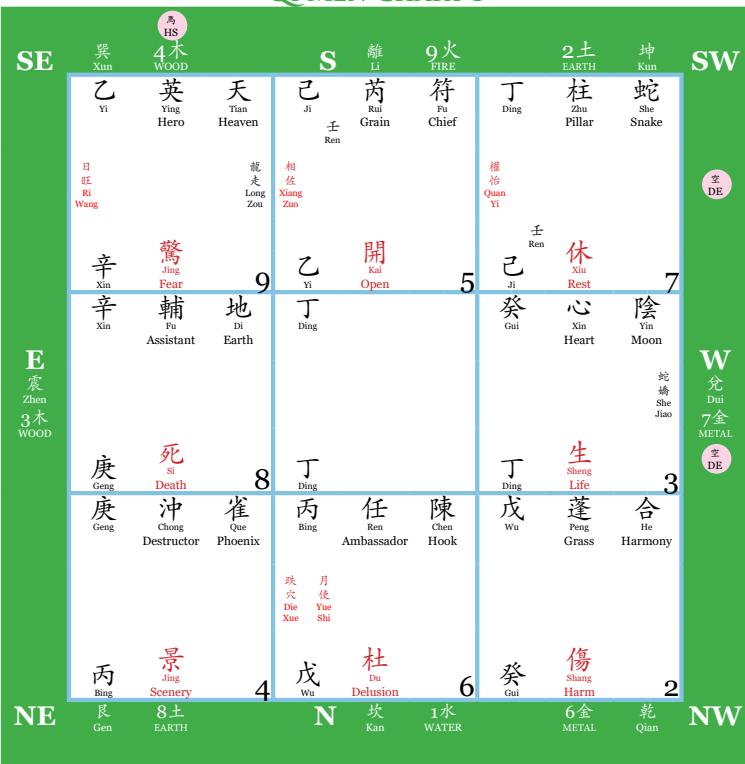

Robbery Sha happens to be in the Northwest 3 in 2018. The Peeping Tom Sha seen from the house, as shown in Illustration II, also happens to be in the Northwest 3 direction, so the house will receive the negative impact of this Sha Qi. In 2018, the Pig zodiac represents Robbery Sha. Hence, the negative impact may take place in a Pig month which falls between 7th November to 6th December in 2018.

Who is more vulnerable to this negative impact?

In the San He system, those who are born in the year of the Pig are more vulnerable to robbery, theft and loss of belongings in 2018. The Southwest direction is represented by the East Zhen Gua in the Eight Trigrams (Ba Gua). Zhen Gua represents a man, particularly the eldest son. They will be more vulnerable to the impact of the Peeping Tom Sha.

BUSINESS INVESTMENT FRAUD

QI MEN CHART 1

This is a story shared by a student who started practicing Qi Men Dun Jia recently. A businessman asked him to invest in a factory. The businessman seems very genuine. He showed him all the past accounting records and also brought him to visit the factory. Convinced by that man, he consulted the Qi Men Chart for further confirmation. Not well-versed in all the focus points in Qi Men Dun Jia, he used the basics to help him get the answer he was looking for, that is, will this investment be profitable?

The basic focus points in this reading involved the South Palace which represents the Self (Asker) and the Southeast Palace which represents the outcome of this investment. The Southeast Palace produces into the South Palace. There is a Sky Horse sign in the Southeast Palace too. This denotes that the student was very keen and was about to invest in this manufacturing business. Usually when the Palaces produce each other, the answer is "Yes".

However, it is important to pay attention to the content in the Outcome Palace. This is because the Outcome Palace will give you more information about whether the investment is profitable, whether the business is running well and how quickly you can re-coup your capital. The producing cycle only indicates whether it is likely a go-ahead for you or otherwise. It DOES NOT indicate whether the outcome is positive or negative.

The student seeing that the Palace has a positive stem and structure as well as a negative structure and hidden stem, decided to go ahead with the investment. He thought that since there was a good structure, he will be able to overcome any obstacles. So, he invested an initial investment amounting to $20,000. Thereafter, the business disappeared without a trace. He realized that he had been cheated.

He then felt that he must have missed some important indication in the Qi Men Chart and sought my opinion on the Qi Men reading. Looking at the Qi Men Chart 1, I highlighted to him that the Outcome Palace had a very negative structure called Long Zou. It is considered one of the top five worst structures to encounter in a Qi Men reading. Thus, he shouldn't have gone ahead with the investment.

I also pointed out to him that there is another straightforward way to get his answer. For any business or money-related matter, he should always look into the Life Door. The Life Door was in Death and Emptiness in this chart. It indicates that the business investment or the manufacturing company doesn't exist. The Life Palace also clashed with the South Palace which represents the Asker, so it was definitely a "NO" to that investment. Again, the Life Door contained another negative structure, which is also one of the top five worst structures to encounter in a Qi Men reading.

He thanked me for the pointers and said he will be more careful when reading a chart next time. I told him that he was very brave and confident to use what he had learnt. He just needs more practice and to participate in more study groups.

Gyeongbok Palace (경복궁)

A visit to Seoul last year was a good Feng Shui experience for me. I have wanted to write about the Gyeongbok Palace or Gyeongbokgung ever since, but had no idea how to start telling the story. Then I came across the Peeping Tom Sha and noticed that my home is also plagued with similar problems.

My desire to taste the famous Tosokchon's Samgyetang, which is one of the best restaurants serving Korean Chicken Ginseng soup, brought me to the vicinity of the Gyeongbokgung. My own research told me that Gyeongbokgung is surrounded by four mountains. Bugaksan Mountain, rising 342 meters to the north, is located at the back of the Palace. The Palace is facing Mongmyeoksan or Namsan Mountain to the south. The Naksan Mountain (125m) is to the east of the Palace, while Imwangsan Mountain (338m) is located on the west side. The Han River runs in front of and across the Gyeongbokgung.

The arrangement of these mountains and river fits the standard description of good land formation in classical Feng Shui texts. The Bugaksan Mountain provides protection in the Black Turtle position. The Naksan Mountain to the east and Imwangsan Mountain to the west serves as support in the Tiger and Dragon respectively. The Palace is facing Mongmyeoksan Mountain which serves as the Table Mountain that locks in Qi.

With such textbook-perfect Feng Shui features, you may be surprised to learn that Gyeongbokgung is witness to much turmoil and strife. The royal family of the Joseon Dynasty, who made Gyeongbokgung their home, did not enjoy much peace despite the Palace's location in an ideal Feng Shui location with the Black Tortoise at the back, Green Dragon and White Tiger to the left and right and the rising Phoenix and river to the front. You need to have a keen eye for detail to find out the truth.

The palace was first constructed in 1394 by King Taejo, the first king and the founder of the Joseon dynasty. Two hundred years later it was burnt down during the Japanese invasions that occurred between 1592 to 1598. It was reconstructed in 1868. Gyeongbokgung was again demolished by the Japanese in 1911 when Korea lost its sovereignty and was annexed. The Japanese built the Japanese General Government Building over the site of the demolished palace. The Japanese General Government Building was demolished by the Korean government in 1997 and a new Gyeongbokgung was rebuilt as a tourist attraction. Even though the new Gyeongbokgung was rebuilt to resemble the original palace, the internal Feng Shui may not replicate the internal Feng Shui of the past. Hence, the landform surrounding the palace can tell a better story if the mountains and rivers have not been destroyed.

What caught my eye was Bugaksan Mountain rising behind the Palace. I didn't have the chance to tour the Palace, but my travels around Seoul gave me the opportunity to see much more of the surrounding area. If by chance you are visiting the Palace, walk further from the main entrance of the Palace towards the South, to where the King Sejong Memorial Statue is located. From there, look back towards the Palace. Bugaksan becomes more imposing and prominent behind the Palace when viewed from this location. With a good eye, you will be able to detect the Qi from the meridian spot flowing from Bugaksan toward the Palace. Bugaksan is considered a Fire form mountain. Fire Mountains are good for spiritual pursuits, if they come with auspicious divine formations that bring wisdom. If you've read my previous Feng Shui stories, you may be familiar with some of these divine formations.

The Qi from a Fire Mountain is usually unstable and can be what the Chinese term "fierce" – overwhelming and savage. It is very difficult to tame the Qi of a Fire Mountain without an auspicious divine formation. The Fire Mountain creates leaders. But its effect tends to swing between two extremes. Under this influence, a benevolent leader or an extremely cruel dictator can be born. Furthermore, not many people can harness the Fire Qi without struggle and strife. In the history of the Joseon Dynasty, most Crown Princes had to fight it out with their siblings to claim the throne, only to face more power struggles with ministers who had more influence than the King in the court. Brothers, in-laws and relatives were killed to sustain the King's authority over the court. Few are able to benefit from and withstand the impact of this fierce Qi. Some only held the throne for a few years before either abdicating, passing away - due to illness or assassination, or having their power stolen from them.

If you walk up further to the Yi Sun Sin Statue, and look back towards the Palace, you will have a macro view of Mount Bugaksan. You will be able to see a Peeping Tom Sha appearing at Mount Bugaksan. If you have a keen eye for details, you would have noticed it earlier at the King Sejong Memorial Statue. From the Yi Sun Sin Statue, this Sha formation is clearer. There is another Fire Mountain peeping out behind Mount Bugaksan, just like a person hiding and watching Gyeongbokgung from behind Bugaksan. This influence is reflected in Korean history. Power, wealth, position and status could be taken away behind your back or right in front of your eyes when Peeping Tom Sha is present, and in this case, it happened to the Kings and Queens residing in this Palace.

The effect of the Peeping Tom Sha is also apparent in Korea's relationships with its neighbours. For much of the Joseon Dynasty, external powers had an influence over Korea. Korea had always been a tributary country of Imperial China. During the Joseon Dynasty, tribute was paid to the Ming Dynasty and later the Qing Dynasty. Although the tributary system was for mutually-beneficial economic relationships, by paying tribute the Kings conceded the superior position to Imperial China. Imperial China was quick to take advantage of the Joseon dynasty's misfortunes (weak Kings and internal strife in the royal court) by sending agents and the armed forces to the inner border of Korea. Imperial China may have even been able to extend its power into the Joseon court, indirectly influencing the choice of successors.

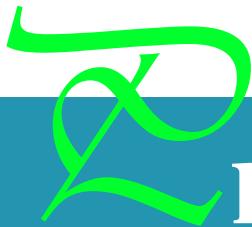

During the Joseon Dynasty, Korea also suffered from the threat of invasion by Japan. The first invasion happened in 1592, followed by a brief truce in 1596, and a second invasion in 1597. The Japanese see the conquest of Korea as a stepping stone to the conquest of the Ming Dynasty. While the Ming Dynasty interpreted this as a threat to its power and position as the Middle Kingdom, the Ming Emperor was only interested in keeping the war confined to Korea. The Ming army was dispatched to support Joseon's war against Japan and recapture territory occupied by the Japanese. As such, the Ming Emperor was able to keep harm and losses to the minimum against the Japanese. Korea was very much at a disadvantage.

Another factor to take into consideration in terms of the Feng Shui of Gyeongbokgung is that it is a South-facing property. The Han River flows past the front of Gyeongbokgung through Seoul and then merges with the Rimjin River before it flows out to the Yellow Sea. Having a body of water in the South direction is considered an inauspicious sign. It is only ideal if the river happens to flow from the West to the East in front of a South facing property. In contrast, the Han River is flowing from the East to the West in front of Gyeongbokgung. This is a violation of Feng Shui standards for a South-facing property. It creates Peach Blossom Sha and negative effects ranging from Peach Blossom scandals to financial problems. Not all the Joseon Kings who lived in this Palace faced the same troubles though. For a person to experience this kind of trouble, his Bazi chart which represents the Heaven Luck must match with the Earth Luck, in this case, the Feng Shui of Gyeongbokgung.

CHARACTERISTICS OF THE 十神 TEN GODS (THE COMPANION ELEMENT)

There are altogether 10 types of Day Masters arising from the two different polarities (Yin and Yang) of the Five Elements. In the previous issues, we have shown how the Ten Gods are derived from the interaction of the Five Elements with the Day Master. Each of these Five Elements can support, destroy, control, or exhaust one another. Moving forward, we will be exploring the characteristics of the Ten Gods.

In this issue's Bazi 101, we want to explore the characteristics of the Companion element. The Companion element is the same element as the Day Master. The Companion element is further divided into Yin and Yang polarities, resulting in the Friend and Rob Wealth stars. Due to the different polarities, the characteristics of the Friend and Rob Wealth stars are also different.

FACE READING: POSITIVE MOLES ON THE FACE

In this modern era, people spend so much time in the morning covering the blemishes and unhealthy skin tone of their faces with cosmetic powders and foundations. However, some marks are purposely left exposed because they are seen as beautiful. The mole is one such beauty mark. They are seen as a seductive and charming facial feature. For some, the mole becomes their signature feature.

In Chinese face reading, some practitioners consider moles auspicious while others see them as negative marks. Moles on the face usually denote some form of challenge. It is auspicious because it can serve as a reminder or warning so that people can be more vigilant to protect themselves from harm.

In this issue, we will show you how to spot a good mole.

'Good moles' are usually hidden. Hidden moles are definitely more auspicious than visible moles. An auspicious mole is usually round, and red or black in colour. Unevenly-shaped moles, or birthmarks are usually negative, especially large birthmarks. Lighter-coloured moles are inauspicious.

A hair growing on a mole is considered good fortune too. This denotes growth and progress. For a male, they can keep the hair, while a woman can consider trimming it. A mole in your crowning glory indicates fortune and longevity.

Here are visible moles that are considered auspicious.

① A Mole underneath the Nostrils

A mole located just underneath or next to your nostrils is considered a ‘Treasure Guardian’ protecting the wealth palace. The person who has this facial feature can save a substantial amount of money. It is good to have this mole especially if your nostril is exposed.

② A Mole above the Eyebrow

A mole right above the eyebrow is a good sign. These people are usually quite intelligent. Their wealth luck comes from hard work and the use of their knowledge.

③ A Mole at End of the Eyebrow

A mole at end of an eyebrow shaped like a knife suggests a person of authority and power. For normal types of eyebrow, a mole in this location indicates good leadership skills.

④ A Mole on the End of the Upper Lip

A mole on the end of upper lip represents a person who is charismatic, persuasive, and charming. They are popular with the opposite sex. It also denotes a person who can often enjoy good food without having to pay for it!

⑤ A Mole on Any Part of the Ear

A mole on any part of the ear represents good luck. It denotes a person with high IQ and quick thinking. If the mole is located at the ear lobe, especially if it is rounded and fleshy, it denotes double good fortune. Usually it denotes that the person will have a good life without worries.

Date of Birth: 20 August 1991

Just Ask

Dear Ms Angie,
You do not have to worry unnecessarily. These two luck cycles bring challenges in the areas of work and relationship. In terms of work, if you put in effort and constantly upgrade your knowledge, you will be able to overcome the challenges coming your way. As for relationship matters, learn to let go if things do not work out. Do not be stubborn and hang on to an unfulfilling relationship.

Question

Yvonne

We have identified a property for own stay. Is this a good year to purchase property and which month is better to lock in the purchase?

The condo is sitting on north and facing south. Is the direction suitable to our Bazi? We are looking for a home that could provide a general wellbeing for the family.

Thanks

Just Ask

Dear Yvonne,
The property that you are interested in suffers from stagnant Qi. There is also a lot of hidden Sha Qi. The environment surrounding the condominium is also prone to theft and robbery.

This is not a good year to lock into a long-term financial commitment. Wait until the end of the year to hunt for another property.
